Shining a Light on America

2024 Sold Out! New Hall Added for 2025

The inaugural West Virginia Coal Show sold out with more than 150 exhibitors in over 200 booths. Demand for additional exhibit space to accommodate large equipment resulted in the addition of the Charleston Coliseum. The show is expected to almost double in 2025.

Symposium Breaks Attendance Records

The WVCA Annual Symposium celebrated its 50th Anniversary and attracted over 400 senior management and operating personnel from both large and small coal companies throughout the country. A large attendance is expected again in 2025.

West Virginia Coal Show Gives Back

The West Virginia Coal Show proudly supports and funds Friends of Coal. We support the industry because we believe that coal is vital to our economy and for our energy independence.

We believe coal has a future in America and we want to do our part to make that future bright.

Governor Declares "Coal Days of West Virginia" in Support of West Virginia Coal Show.

A Traditional Coal Show

The West Virginia Coal Show is not open to the general public, but attendance from everyone involved in the coal industry is encouraged. Admission is free of charge and exhibitors are provided with VIP invitations to invite customers and prospects with pre-registration to avoid them waiting in line. Sponsors and exhibitors also provide door prizes and incentives to show appreciation to attendees.
